100 Quintessential Quora Questions

This is the second set of 100 questions I've answered on Quora. I try and respond to the good questions thoughtfully, and helpfully, basing those answers on my knowledge and experiences. Judging by the number of times, my answers are upvoted, it seems I must be doing something right. The stupid questions, not so much, but I do try to answer many of those questions with a degree of flippancy. Admittedly, I have an off-the-wall sense of humor,

The purpose of these collections is nothing more than to share them with a wider audience I hope you enjoy reading them, finding some advice and suggestions that will resonate with you, plus, of course, I'd like you to get a few laughs along the way.

When you've got to the end, and if you found it a good read, please write a review, as well as sharing it with your friends and family. If you want to know about me, and my life, click here. A sincere thanks for your time.

What would be your advice for people who want to cut down on their social media use?

Michael Rocharde

Software Dev., World traveller, Author, Itinerant Gypsy · Just now

I think the only advice I can give you is to accept that virtually nothing on social media has any value, and it is there to sell you stuff you don't need, or be exposed to information that is worthless. It's insidious, and is the root cause of many of the problems today. I have eliminated all of it from my daily life. I suppose Quora could be considered social media, but I don't see it as that, and I enjoy answering questions on it. HTH.

2.

Why is "dumbing down" frowned upon?

Michael Rocharde

Software Dev., World traveller, Author, Itinerant Gypsy · Just now

The fact that you have to ask this question is answer enough. If you want a world that is full of people stupider than they already are, welcome to drone factories where nobody has the intellect to understand anything, object to the job they are given, and, God forbid, ask questions.

3.

Is it hereditary or a piece of knowledge that makes a person very smart or normal?

Michael Rocharde

Software Dev., World traveller, Author, Itinerant Gypsy · Just now

Our DNA contains the code for our intellect. Whether a person grows into that is controlled by numerous factors, but those that have the, for lack of a better description, the 'smart gene' start off with an advantage. From there on, it is a matter of accumulating knowledge, and the smart person will accumulate, or retain, more of it.

4.

Why am I so stupid? I'm always having difficulty in learning.

Michael Rocharde

Software Dev., World traveller, Author, Itinerant Gypsy · Just now

First; stop calling yourself stupid; that alone is holding you back from learning. Secondly, there is a good probability that the things you are having trouble learning do not interest you in the slightest. What are you interested in? Pick one subject, and learn as much as you can about it. I think you'll find that you are able to learn a lot, which in turn will give you confidence to learn other things. But, you also have to persevere, which means not giving up when something is really difficult. Keep working at it until you get it, or, by all means, find an expert, and ask for their help; there's no shame in it. HTH and good luck.

5.

How do you respond when you don't know what to say?

Michael Rocharde

Software Dev., World traveller, Author, Itinerant Gypsy · 1m

The facetious, but true, answer is that I always know what to say, but if I didn't, since I would have been listening intently, I would paraphrase something that person said, and feed it back to them in the form of a question. Works every time.

6.

Can you give some examples of using silence as a tool?

Michael Rocharde

Software Dev., World traveller, Author, Itinerant Gypsy · Just now

Of course. In sales, when you ask a 'closing' question, you have to be absolutely silent while the client thinks it over. If you speak first, you've almost certainly lost the sale. This is so important that when I trained salespeople, I would drill it into them, by watching carefully, and the moment it looked like they were about to say something, I would yell "Shut the f**k up!". Silence is an incredibly powerful tool in interviews. The interviewer will ask the prospective employee a question, get a short answer, and then remain silent, waiting for the answer to be expanded on. HTH.

7.

How can a smart person survive within a mass of dumb people?

This question previously had details. They are now in a comment.

Michael Rocharde

Software Dev., World traveller, Author, Itinerant Gypsy · Just now

Hide in the middle, and keep very quiet.

8.

How can I be humble and great?

Michael Rocharde

Software Dev., World traveller, Author, Itinerant Gypsy · Just now

Be great at something, but be humble about it.

9.

How can you tell if an opponent is more skilled than you?

Michael Rocharde

Software Dev., World traveller, Author, Itinerant Gypsy · Just now

They usually win.

10.

How do you respond to people who say they are not smart enough or talented enough to achieve something? What would you tell them instead?

Michael Rocharde

Software Dev., World traveller, Author, Itinerant Gypsy · Just now

I would sit down with them and try to find out why they feel that way, because it might well be that external forces are shaping their attitude. I'd also tell them that defeating themselves before they start is a surefire way of never amounting to anything, and the only way they will ever achieve anything is to go out and try. Drive and determination will achieve a lot. I'd also tell them they deserve a swift kick up the ass for being so negative.

11.

Do smart people have the right answers?

Michael Rocharde

Software Dev., World traveller, Author, Itinerant Gypsy · Just now

Not always, but most of the time, and when they don't have the answer, they will often research the subject. In a forum such as Quora, most of the questions require common sense answer, with a dash of empathy, rather than smartness, or intelligence.

12.

Why is thinking difficult to most people before judging other people?

Michael Rocharde

Software Dev., World traveller, Author, Itinerant Gypsy · Just now

Many people, in my experience, are incredibly judgemental, or prejudiced, without any knowledge, or reason, to back that up. These people are mostly deeply insecure, with very low self esteem, and who feel that the world owes them more than they have ended up with. A lot of them also aren't smart enough to think anything through. Just my 2¢.

13.

What are some examples of decisions that require little or no information?

Michael Rocharde

Software Dev., World traveller, Author, Itinerant Gypsy · Just now

Life or death ones.

14.

If you were a child, surrounded by giant people Who are five times heavier than you, infinitely stronger, faster, smarter and Way more mature than you, would you be OK with knowing that you are small and powerless, everyone has to come down to you?

Michael Rocharde

Software Dev., World traveller, Author, Itinerant Gypsy · Just now

All children start that way, but, eventually, we grow into one of the people you describe. It's called living. The nature of that journey, though, depends on the quality of the people around you, and their desire, or not, to see you grow into a well rounded, confident human being. Unfortunately, many parents would never pass a test to see if they were qualified to be one.

15.

What is the difference between a person who has learned and one who hasn't?

Michael Rocharde

Software Dev., World traveller, Author, Itinerant Gypsy · Just now

Knowledge.

16.

Is it necessary to work well with others to be successful?

Michael Rocharde

Software Dev., World traveller, Author, Itinerant Gypsy · Just now

Generally, yes, but not always. It definitely helps to have people around you to support, and help you. It is also, in my opinion necessary to have confidence, and be able to present your ideas, and solutions, to groups of people, especially when you're looking for funding. Not only do you have to be able to present excellently, and compellingly, but you also have to be able to answer questions that are thrown at you.

17.

What is your life experience working on commission?

Michael Rocharde

Software Dev., World traveller, Author, Itinerant Gypsy · 1m

I worked in art galleries in the early 1980's, and was solely on commission. In my profession as a software developer, I have to sell my services, so I'm also on commission, albeit a different type. As a risk taker, all of my life, I thrive under that sort of pressure, but it's not easy, and for many people, the uncertainty of income is more than they can cope with, so they give up and get a regular paying job. I was once asked by a group of young high schoolers how much money I made a month as an entrepreneur. They loved the sound of the top of the range, but when I told them that I made $0 in quite a few months, their jaws dropped, and I could see that quite a few of them had decided, there and then, that they didn't want to be an entrepreneur after all. I didn't blame them at all.

18.

Do we learn little from our successes, but a lot from our failures?

Michael Rocharde

Software Dev., World traveller, Author, Itinerant Gypsy · Just now

I would venture to say that we learn absolutely nothing from our successes. We just pat ourselves on the back and think how great we are! When we fail, there is a time for introspection, and analysis, trying to figure out what went wrong, and where. Those sessions are the ones that provide us with the information we need to move forward with the next venture, avoiding the mistakes we've made previously. I had one, spectacular, failure, losing a lot of money in the process, but the lessons I learned from it, have enabled me to recover many times the money I lost in that episode. Whilst failure is unpleasant, it is invaluable.

19.

What does it mean to be silent and speak wisdom?

Michael Rocharde

Software Dev., World traveller, Author, Itinerant Gypsy · Just now

I've never found it possible to speak, and be silent, at the same time. It's a neat trick.

20.

Is it rude to regift a present to the original gifter?

Michael Rocharde

Software Dev., World traveller, Author, Itinerant Gypsy · Just now

Very. Why would you ever think it is not? By doing so, you are either saying that you didn't like their gift, so you're giving it back, OR you are thinking that they won't remember giving it to you, OR you are saying that you don't care enough about them to spend the time getting them something they might like.

21.

Are men intimidated by a woman with a high IQ?

Michael Rocharde

Software Dev., World traveller, Author, Itinerant Gypsy · Just now

Some men are intimidated by a goldfish, but yes, it might if they are insecure about themselves. Personally, I love spending time with anybody who is smarter than me, whether they be male or female.

22.

I've been at my school for 3 years and I've lost all connection I've had to all of my friends, people think I'm weird because I'm socially awkward and I hear a lot that people don't like me. How do I make friends when people already don't like me?

Michael Rocharde

Software Dev., World traveller, Author, Itinerant Gypsy · Just now

You're in a difficult position. School, especially High School, is the most cliquey place you will ever find yourself in. If you're not in one of the cliques, you're an outcast. I would also bet that you're being bullied? So how do you overcome both of these. Start with the bullies. The next time somebody starts to bully you, punch them in the nose, or kick them in the nuts, as hard as you can. Don't think about it, just do it! It doesn't matter if they are alone, or if they have people around them. One of them is the alpha, and that's the guy you have to take down. Yes, you are likely to get hurt in retaliation. Take your licks; you'll recover. On the other hand, you will have destroyed the bully, because bullies are, fundamentally, insecure cowards who rely on their size and aggression. When somebody fights back, everybody sees that they are not invincible, especially if the person doing it is much smaller. Watch the movie 'Ender's Game' to see how Ender, as a scrawny 13 year old deals with a bully. Once you've done that, you will become a hero to everybody else that person has bullied, and you'll soon have lots of friends, without having to join any of the cliques. Good luck.

P.S. Some people will think this is bad advice because they are either a pacifist, or are paralysed by the thought of getting hurt. Life is full of pain, and it's not avoidable so you have to pick your battles.

Any great date ideas for new couples trying to break the ice?
We have been on 3 dates but it still feels awkward like we both don't know what to say.

Michael Rocharde

Software Dev., World traveller, Author, Itinerant Gypsy · Just now

Sorry, but you are likely incompatible, with nothing much in common, and certainly no spark.

24.

Michael Rocharde

Software Dev., World traveller, Author, Itinerant Gypsy · 9m

Who's a genius, and who's a fool?

Elon Musk and Donald Chump. If you don't know which is which, you qualify as a fool.

25.

How do you keep going when things get too tough?

Michael Rocharde

Software Dev., World traveller, Author, Itinerant Gypsy · Just now

Be tougher, which means never giving up.

26.

What makes it difficult for machines to think like humans do?

Michael Rocharde

Software Dev., World traveller, Author, Itinerant Gypsy · Just now

One is totally logical, and the other, not so much.

27.

What makes you more paranoid, knowing or not knowing?

Michael Rocharde

Software Dev., World traveller, Author, Itinerant Gypsy · Just now

No idea. Paranoia isn't in my DNA, yet!

28.

What is a good answer when someone says I'm sorry to hear that?

Michael Rocharde

Software Dev., World traveller, Author, Itinerant Gypsy · Just now

"Thank you." or "I appreciate that."

29.

What makes you more paranoid, knowing or not knowing?

Michael Rocharde

Software Dev., World traveller, Author, Itinerant Gypsy · Just now

No idea. Paranoia isn't in my DNA, yet!

30.

Why do humans always try to solve problems with war?

Michael Rocharde

Software Dev., World traveller, Author, Itinerant Gypsy · Just now

War is big business with weapons companies making billions; that's why.

31.

How do I find peace when triggered by stupid people?

Michael Rocharde

Software Dev., World traveller, Author, Itinerant Gypsy · Just now

Make the decision to stop letting them trigger you. You can control your emotions; I haven't got angry in 35 years because I decided not to.

32.

What kind of people will never be successful?

Michael Rocharde

Software Dev., World traveller, Author, Itinerant Gypsy · Just now

Lazy, with no drive and no determination.

33.

Do psychopaths get distracted easily?

Michael Rocharde

Software Dev., World traveller, Author, Itinerant Gypsy · Just now

Don't know, and I definitely don't want to find out.

34.

Is there anything you should never say to a lazy person?

Michael Rocharde

Software Dev., World traveller, Author, Itinerant Gypsy · Just now

Not in my book, which I'm thinking of writing.

35.

What are some ways to tell if something is false information or misleading information online?

Michael Rocharde

Software Dev., World traveller, Author, Itinerant Gypsy · Just now

Since there is so much of it, the only way to check is to Google it, and then review multiple sources to see if they all say the same thing. Then the likelihood is that it is true, but I'm still hesitant to believe anything I read online these days.

36.

Michael Rocharde

Software Dev., World traveller, Author, Itinerant Gypsy · 2h

Lies and Lying: Who has been or is the world's biggest liar?

Donald Chump; never to be surpassed. Unfortunately, he still is.

37.

Has human civilization ever been wiped out?

Michael Rocharde

Software Dev., World traveller, Author, Itinerant Gypsy · Just now

Not yet, but all the signs are that we're on the way out.

38.

How can one simplify an explanation of a difficult concept for others, without losing accuracy or depth of understanding oneself?

Michael Rocharde

Software Dev., World traveller, Author, Itinerant Gypsy · Just now

K.I.S.S. (Imagine you have to explain it to a teenager!)

39.

When did someone's intellectual attitude rub you the wrong way?

Michael Rocharde

Software Dev., World traveller, Author, Itinerant Gypsy · Just now

Whenever they think they are smarter than everybody else!

40.

What does not correspond to reality?

Michael Rocharde

Software Dev., World traveller, Author, Itinerant Gypsy · Just now

Believing anything that Donald Chump has to say.

41.

Is it possible to describe someone with no flaws?

Michael Rocharde

Software Dev., World traveller, Author, Itinerant Gypsy · Just now

Modesty prevents me.

42.

The rich says, 'Money doesn't matter '. The pretty says, 'Beauty doesn't matter ". What's your take on that?

Michael Rocharde

Software Dev., World traveller, Author, Itinerant Gypsy · Just now

My take is that when somebody says 'something' doesn't matter, it matters; a lot!

43.

Michael Rocharde

Software Dev., World traveller, Author, Itinerant Gypsy · 3h

Why are people always in my business?

Because you let them by not having the chutzpah to tell them to mind their own.

How can I stay humble even with lots of wealth?

This question previously had details. They are now in a comment.

Michael Rocharde

Software Dev., World traveller, Author, Itinerant Gypsy · Just now

If it would help, you're welcome to send me $1 million. Seriously, I'd try to remember that the universe decided to give that money to you, so you're a very lucky person. Be grateful for it, and treat everybody who isn't as fortunate with kindness, and, most importantly, respect. Finally, never talk about your wealth, or brag about things you've just bought. Apart from the fact it isn't necessary, doing so may put you, and your family, in jeopardy as you never know who's listening.

45.

Is it okay to be an entrepreneur failure?

Michael Rocharde

Software Dev., World traveller, Author, Itinerant Gypsy · Just now

All entrepreneurs fail; it's part of the process. If you can't accept that, you shouldn't be one.

46.

My parents told me I should not make any decisions myself because I'm just 22. They claim I've barely been an adult so they should make some of my choices for me. Like doctors appointments. Do you think this is harassment?

Michael Rocharde

Software Dev., World traveller, Author, Itinerant Gypsy · Just now

Harassment isn't the right word. What they are doing is treating you like a child, and you're allowing it by not putting your foot down, and telling them to stop meddling in your life. You can say it nicely, but you have to say it firmly, and leave no doubt as to your meaning. Then, the next time they try to meddle, make a point of doing the opposite, i.g., if they make an appointment, either change it, or don't go to it. At 22, you are more than capable of living your own life, whether you still live at home or not. HTH.

47.

How do you cope when your best friend is sick?

Michael Rocharde

Software Dev., World traveller, Author, Itinerant Gypsy · Just now

This happened to me several years ago when my best friend of some 40 years was diagnosed with terminal lung cancer. At the time, I was living in the US, on the West Coast, and he was in the UK. The only thing I could do was to call him frequently, and talk about everything under the sun other than his illness. Even now, I still feel a terrible sense of loss and grief, even though he's been gone for 4 years or so.

48.

What is the answer to an indescribable question?

Michael Rocharde

Software Dev., World traveller, Author, Itinerant Gypsy · Just now

It's indescribable.

49.

How do you define yourself in one sentence or phrase? What would be your own personal philosophy statement about who you are and what's important to you in life?

Michael Rocharde

Software Dev., World traveller, Author, Itinerant Gypsy · Just now

'It is the way it is, and it will be, what it will be.' In Spanish, it is 'Es lo que es, y que sera sera. That's been the saying I've lived by for as long as I can remember. But what does it mean? It means stop worrying about things you have no control over.

50.

Is it 'everything is' or 'everything are'?

Michael Rocharde

Software Dev., World traveller, Author, Itinerant Gypsy · Just now

Everything is, even when it's plural as in "Everything is coming up roses."

51.

Are those with an IQ above 130 more likely to question authority?

Michael Rocharde

Software Dev., World traveller, Author, Itinerant Gypsy · Just now

Definitely.

52.

Are people 100 years ago physically the same as people today?

Michael Rocharde

Software Dev., World traveller, Author, Itinerant Gypsy · Just now

No, they're much older.

53.

I enjoy humiliating a male psychopath who works the same job as me. How many times per week should I bully him to maintain dominance?

Michael Rocharde

Software Dev., World traveller, Author, Itinerant Gypsy · Just now

It sounds like you're a sociopath, playing very dangerous games with a psychopath.

54.

What is death? Why every living thing must die?

65.

Is there any way of making new friends easily without being awkward or weird, especially when you're older than most of the people around you (college)?

Michael Rocharde

Software Dev., World traveller, Author, Itinerant Gypsy · 2h

If there is a group sitting around, preferably with at least one person you recognize, ask if you could join them. If they say, "No", smile, say 'Thank you' and find another group. Ask questions about the people you are talking to, and listen intently. Don't talk about yourself. If somebody asks you a question about yourself, answer it, briefly, without any bragging, and immediately ask another question to that person. The more you show interest in others, the more they will find you interesting. HTH.

66.

Do you stand by while friends make bad choices or speak up?

Michael Rocharde

Software Dev., World traveller, Author, Itinerant Gypsy · Just now

I wouldn't be much of a friend if I didn't speak up, would I?

67.

Is it possible to become extremely good at something within a year?

Michael Rocharde

Software Dev., World traveller, Author, Itinerant Gypsy · Just now

Let's say you work at that thing for 40 hours a week, 50 weeks of the year. That's 2000 hours. Conventional wisdom is that you need to spend 10,000 hours before you become really good at something, which would take you 5 years. The answer is No.

68.

Is religion the only thing that is going to save you from death?

Michael Rocharde

Software Dev., World traveller, Author, Itinerant Gypsy · Just now

No, and it's not supposed to. It's supposed to make you believe that there is something more, and that if we're good, we'll go to heaven. If we're bad, we go to hell. And, if you believe that bunch of BS, then I have some swamp land in Florida for sale.

69.

Which car is better? Ferrari or Lamborghini?

Michael Rocharde

Software Dev., World traveller, Author, Itinerant Gypsy · Just now

As somebody who has driven several different models of each, they are both completely different cars to drive. The Lamborghini is, for me, the most exciting because the moment you get behind the wheel, and turn the engine on, you, quite literally, feel that the car wants to kill you. Driving it accentuates that feeling. The Ferrari, on the other hand, feels much more refined, and gentle. Both marques have breathtaking performance and handling. Both are incredibly beautiful, but, for me, the Lamborghini wins again; I like the sharp edges as opposed to the beautiful curves of the Ferrari. Price wise, they're about the same. HTH.

70.

Why is it that some people are just naturally gifted while others have to work hard for everything they get in life, and still end up as average or below average? Is this fair or not?

Michael Rocharde

Software Dev., World traveller, Author, Itinerant Gypsy · Just now

Nobody ever said that life was fair. Sorry, but it's true. I do believe, though, that each of us are given gifts, but not everybody recognizes them, or takes advantage of them. The one thing we cannot, or rather should not, do is take credit for them; they are due to our genetics and DNA, and like sexuality, there is nothing we can do other than to accept them, and make the best use of them. There's also no point in complaining, being average is not a bad result in the lottery of life.

71.

Where do we go after death, and how does it feel to be dead?

Michael Rocharde

Software Dev., World traveller, Author, Itinerant Gypsy · Just now

Good luck with getting an answer to this one.

72.

Was Leonardo Da Vinci a genius or just an ordinary man with extraordinary skills?

Michael Rocharde

Software Dev., World traveller, Author, Itinerant Gypsy · 1m

'Ordinary man with extraordinary skills' = a genius.

73.

Why does the truth bother so much and not lies, ignorance, mediocrity and the intellect of those who manipulate with their huge army of hypocrites, flatterers, corrupt and demagogues?

Michael Rocharde

Software Dev., World traveller, Author, Itinerant Gypsy · Just now

Those who choose lies, ignorance, etc. over truth, are merely reflecting their own characters, and not in a good way. I feel sorry for them.

74.

How do you find an inverse relationship from data?

Michael Rocharde

Software Dev., World traveller, Author, Itinerant Gypsy · Just now

In business, the data you collect is your most valuable asset. Properly analyzed, it will tell you everything about your business, sometimes telling you that you are in the wrong line of business. In my experience, very few businesses take the time to do this, and are ignoring trends that could, dramatically, increase their profitability. Sad, but true.

75.

Which rule might seem stupid at first, but is actually very important to keep people safe?

Michael Rocharde

Software Dev., World traveller, Author, Itinerant Gypsy · Just now

When you're out, and about, pay attention to your surroundings, and always be aware of things going on around you. Trust your instinct, and if you sense danger, go in a different direction.

76.

What is one thing that makes wise people make mistakes?

Michael Rocharde

Software Dev., World traveller, Author, Itinerant Gypsy · Just now

Overconfidence.

77.

How do I not become a fanatic for someone (a lider) or an idea?

Michael Rocharde

Software Dev., World traveller, Author, Itinerant Gypsy · Just now

Don't invest your total self in any one thing.
